

In November we did an e-mail survey with participating educators about this Remembrance Day and Veterans' Week project

Questions

- Will recommend this project to your colleges?
- Will you look for more on-line material on our website again next year?

Responses

- Thank you for what you told us about this project
- Thanks very much for the very useful resources
- I will definitely advise colleagues to visit this site, to get excellent resources. I look forward to next year's site.
- Will recommend this project to your colleges absolutely! This is a wonderful site with excellent information for educator and student alike. I especially liked being able to access archived lessons.
- Will you look for more on-line material on our website again next year. I most definitely would. It is very hard to find material with a Canadian focus and that is balanced according to gender/ethnocultural identity etc.... You have a wonderful resource.
- Yes I would definitely recommend this to colleagues. Our ceremony centred around a presentation by a student who was completing her History 10 credit.
- She based her pres around the "women in the war" lessons from, I think, the 2007 series. I would be happy to use your website next year.
- Yes, I would recommend this project and yes I will be looking for more on-line materials next year
- Will recommend this project to your colleges? Yes, absolutely!
- Will you look for more on-line material on our website again next year? Definitely!
- Do you have a number for how many schools participated in the programme? I would like to tell my students that they took part in something big.
- The answers from Sacred Heart are Yes and Yes.
- Thank you for compiling resources for us to use that are current, insightful and powerful mediums of the message that we can convey to the generation in formation!
- Yes, definitely. I forwarded the information to all of the Canadian and World Studies heads in our board
- Will you look for more on-line material on our website again next year.
- Yes, the information was quite interesting.
- My grade three class performed the Flander's Fields reading for our school's Remembrance Day service ... Thank you for including it on your site.
